

The Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies (wiiw)

CURRICULUM VITAE

Family name	LEITNER
First name	Sebastian
Date of birth	31.07.1971
Nationality	Austrian
Education	1991-2006 Vienna University of Economics and Business administration (economics); theme of diploma thesis: "Economic transformation and external stability in the Baltic States: Developments affected by currency board and hard peg currency regimes"
Degrees	M.A. (Mag. rer. soc. oec.)
Language skills	German, English
Present position	Staff Economist and Statistician, The Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies (wiiw)
Key subjects	The economies of Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania; income distribution and inequality; labour markets
Relevant working experience
since November 2006	Staff Economist, The Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies (wiiw), Vienna, Austria
since May 2000	Statistician, The Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies (wiiw), Vienna, Austria
July 1999 – Aug. 1999	Assistant, Statistical department, The Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies (wiiw), Vienna, Austria
Mai 1997 – Nov. 1997 (part time)	Assistant, Technology transfer centre Vorarlberg, Austria
July 1994 – Sept. 1994	IT-Assistant, LUX, Vienna
July 1993 – Sept. 1993	Assistant, Simma & Partner Consulting, Dornbirn, Austria
March 1992 – Sept. 1994 (part time)	Tutor in IT-department, Vienna University for Economics and Business administration, Austria
July 1992 – Sept. 1992	Assistant, Simma & Partner Consulting, Dornbirn, Austria
July 1991 – Sept. 1991	Assistant, Simma & Partner Consulting, Dornbirn, Austria
July 1990 – Sept. 1990	Assistant, Simma & Partner Consulting, Dornbirn, Austria
July 1989 – Sept. 1989	Assistant, Simma & Partner Consulting, Dornbirn, Austria

Publications

1. Economic Inequality in Central, East and Southeastern Europe (together with Holzner, M.), in: Intervention. Journal of Economics, 2008 special issue, forthcoming.
2. Growth resurgence, Productivity Catching-up and Labour Demand in CEECs (together with Havlik, P. and Stehrer, R.), wiiw Statistical Report, Nr. 3, January 2008.
3. Baltic States: entering a chill-out phase, in: wiiw Current Analyses and Forecasts, Nr. 1, 2008, pp. 49-54.
4. Economic Inequality in Central, East and Southeastern Europe (together with Holzner, M.), A paper prepared within the GDN SEE framework, presented at the Second ECINEQ Conference, Berlin, July 12-14, 2007.
5. Baltic States: is the end of the economic miracle nigh?, in: wiiw Research Report 341, June 2007.
6. Economic Inequality in Central, East and Southeastern Europe (together with Holzner, M.), A paper prepared within the GDN SEE framework, presented at the GDN-SEE workshop, Vienna, June 29-30, 2007.
7. Industry-specific returns to schooling and training – a survey (2007) in: Skill problems in European industrial sectors, Part I, study coordinated by wiiw for DG Enterprise.
8. Baltic states: perils of a boom-bust scenario ahead. in: wiiw Monthly Report, Nr. 4, 2007, pp. 1-8.
9. Lithuania: strong growth with modest inflationary pressures. in: wiiw Research Report 314, March 2005, pp. 50-53.
10. Latvia: highest EU-wide growth, deteriorating current account balance. in: wiiw Monthly Report, Nr. 10, 2004, pp. 21-23.
11. Lithuania: loans fuel boom without inflation. In: wiiw Monthly Report, Nr. 10, 2004, pp. 24-26.
12. Estonia: fast growth, on track to the euro. In: wiiw Monthly Report, Nr. 10, 2004, pp. 18-20.
13. Estonia: Growth despite declining exports. In: CEEC Report, Nr. 4, 2002, Bank Austria Creditanstalt, p. 47.
14. Latvia: Domestic demand supports economic growth. In: CEEC Report, Nr. 4, 2002, Bank Austria Creditanstalt, p. 48.
15. Lithuania: Demand from Russia boosts growth. In: CEEC Report, Nr. 4, 2002, Bank Austria Creditanstalt, p. 49.

Thesis:

Economic transformation and external stability in the Baltic States: Developments affected by currency board and hard peg currency regimes, 2006, Diploma thesis at the University of Economics and Business Administration, Vienna, (Supervisor: Wilfried Altzinger).